

There are quite a few things we haven't covered in these videos, such as strumming, but fear not! There is an abundance of free ukulele resources out there should you wish to continue learning. Some of my favorites are:

- <https://liveukulele.com/> This site by Brad Bordessa has a wide variety of lessons (from beginner to advanced), an ukulele buying guide, chord charts, songs to learn, links to other resources and more. This is a great place to start.
- <https://ukuleleunderground.com/> This site offers a smorgasbord of free video lessons and song instruction, and there is also paid content available. There is also an app for smartphones to access the content.
- The Ukulele App. Available for both iOS and Android, The Ukulele App features ukulele videos taught by The Ukulele Teacher; scales to help you find out what notes you are playing; a chord finder; and a tuner.
- YouTube ukulele lessons by Cynthia Lin and Andy Guitar such as these: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=A0mJxQbXWAc> and <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5bTE5fbxDsc> Both of these folks are wonderful players and teachers with a variety of free lessons and song tutorials on YouTube.

These are just a small sample of the resources available for you, but remember you can always Google "ukulele lessons" and find quite a few more. In addition, remember that the Public Library of Youngstown and Mahoning County also has ukulele kits available for borrowing; each kit contains a soprano ukulele, a tuner, a guide book and more! And, as always, we have a variety of books and DVDs to help you, so please come see us once we reopen.

I hope you've enjoyed these videos, and thanks for watching!
