

Video Converter Steps

1. Put the VHS and DVD in the converter station.
2. Set the VHS to the place you want to begin recording.
3. Make sure VHS is set as the source. The light will switch from VHS to DVD after the recording starts.
4. Press D.DUBBING to begin recording from the VHS to DVD. A message will appear saying that it is dubbing. A red circle will also be displayed on the screen on the converter.
5. When finished, press the stop/eject button on the VHS side of the converter. This will begin the process of writing to the disc.
6. The disc must be finalized to play in most DVD players. To finalize, follow these steps:
 - a. On the remote, press Setup
 - b. Scroll down to DVD Menu
 - c. Click Finalize
 - d. Finalize? Yes
 - e. Wait for the finalization process to complete.

* To transfer more than one video onto the disc:

- Press the stop/eject button on the VHS side of the converter and wait for it to write to the disc.
- Take the VHS tape out and insert the next tape.
- Finalize after you have finished adding videos.

This will create a title menu with the list of transferred videos.

Only compatible with DVD -RW/-R. Cannot record on DVD +RW/+R
